PLAN TO ATTEND THE HOMECOMING DANCE

VOLUME XXII | SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, MAY 17, 1946 | NO. 8

Bowl Activities Highlight Homecoming

Alumni group plans program for evening

With the well-known Bobby Sherwood and his band providing the music, the homecoming dance will be held, May 28 at 8:30 p.m., it was reported this week by Milford Dahl, chairman of the alumni committee. Assisting Mr. Dahl are Armand Hansen and Don Hillman. The dance will not be costume, as was planned.

According to a report received just as El Don went to press, the Rendezvous Ball room in Balboa has been reserved for the homecoming dance. The price of tickets will be $2 per couple.

Further plans for a program and entertainment during the evening will be announced by the alumni organization next week.

There is a possibility that the alumni group will hold its quarterly banquet on homecoming day, according to Mr. Dahl.

Highlighted by the crowning of the Don and Dona, the judging of the beard contest, and a football game between students and alumni, the afternoon homecoming program will begin in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, May 28, at 2:15, according to a report from Bob Fletcher, ASB prexy. Admission will be free.

All afternoon classes will be excused, according to John H. McCoy jaysee director. But evening classes will be held as usual.

Stands to be divided

The grand stands at the bowl will be divided into two sections, with the students taking one side and the alumni another. The alumni section will again be divided into sections representing each year. Placards will be posted in each division bearing the class year of the designated alumni group.

After the Don and Dona are crowned, they will be seated in the stands to preside over the following festivities.

Judging the beard growing contest will be the four Dona contestants, Marion George, Barbara Curtis, Vivian Thompson, and Helen Asher. Prizes will be awarded for the bushiest, best trimmed, and scrawniest beards.

Contact high schools

Several Orange County high schools have been contacted to provide bands for the occasion. If possible, one band will represent the students and another the alumni. It has also been suggested that the bands parade through down-town Santa Ana immediately preceeding the game.

Don McDaniel, El Don editor, and Carolyn Morrison, social commissioner, will be in charge of the crowning of the Don and Dona. It has not yet been decided who will officate at the ceremony.

Registrar accepts applications for September term

Applications for the next fall's term at the junior college are now being accepted ,according to Miss Genevieve Humiston, registrar.

Miss Humiston declared that all students now attending junior college, and wishing to enroll next fall, will be guaranteed re-entry with the exception of those disqualified.

New students will be admitted in the order of their application and their previous school record. This rule is made necessary by the ever-expanding demands on the junior college by returning veterans.

Another factor which may add to the enrollment next fall is the suspension of the drafting of teenagers, thus eliminating the induction of high school graduates this summer.

Jaysee buys planes for engine class

Santa Ana Junior college has just purchased a P-38, Lightning, and a P-61, Black Widow, for use of the airplane engine class under the direction of Earl Bollschweiler.

These planes were flown from Ontario to the Orange County airport by the personnel of the Martin flying school. The purchase of these planes will enable the students of the class to get their E license, and A license, which enables them to work on airplane engines and bodies.

Summer schedules now available

Schedules for the twilight summer session are now available at the office, according to Director John H. McCoy.

Mr. McCoy said that approximately 45 courses will be offered in the eight-week session which opens July 8 and closes August 30. Registration for the summer college will be held July 5.

Special courses will be available for veterans, Mr. McCoy declared, adding that the enrollment this summer is expected to be the largest since the twilight college was started four years ago.

Welcome home

It is indeed a pleasure to issue this official call to all alumni to return to the junior college campus on May 28 for the first homecoming celebration.

Those of us in the administration office have been looking forward to this event since October 12, 1942, when we mailed the first issue of the Don Letter-of-the-Month. Only today I had occasion to thumb through hundreds of your own replies received from the world at large, and they will always serve as reminders of the service many of you rendered to the nation.—John H. McCoy, Director

Blanding is well known for his books of poems, which include "Rest of the Road," "Pilot Bails Out,' 'and "Vagabond's House." He also illustrates his own work.

At present Mr. Blanding is preparing for a trip to Central America, where he will begin work on a new book of verse.

Another holiday to be observed by the close of school is to be Memorial Day, May 30. Both day and evening classes will be excused. Classes are to be resumed again on May 31.

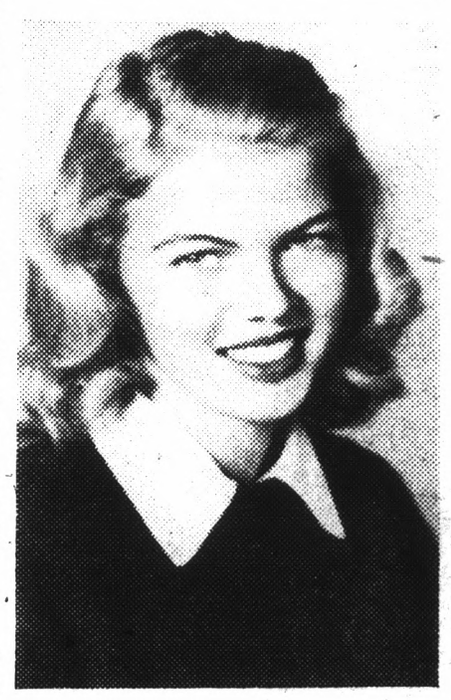

Four hopeful co-eds enter race to elect homecoming Dona

Applications for the Don and Dona contest have all now been received, according to Bob Fletcher, ASB president. There are four co-eds entered in the race for Dona and two men vying for the title of Don.

Barbara Curtis was the first woman to take out a petition for Dona. She was followed by Marion George, Vivian Thompson and Helen Asher. Jack Thompson and Matt Nisson are the only men entered in the Don race.

The Don and Dona will be crowned May 28 at the Bowl, after the election is held on the 24th. They will preside over all homecoming festivities.

The four Dona contestants will, among other things, aid in the beard judging contest. They recently had their pictures taken for the Santa Ana Register.

Veterans Jim Osterman and Wally Hamaker entered the race for presidency of the Associated Students this week as a result of petitions returned to the office Wednesday. Elections will be held next Friday, with finals later, if necessary.

Jo Ann Martin has no opposition for the prexyship of Associated Women Students.

Other candidates include Max Racey for vice-president; Barbara Rohrs, Don Kelchner, Bonnie Main, and Frank Childs for ASB secretary-treasurer.

Shirley Deam and Pat Nagle are in the running for the AWS vice-presidency, with Pat Barnhouse and Joyce Elliott competing for the secretarial chair.

Navy awards DFC to former student

Lieutenant Horace Q. Bolton, jaysee graduate and Naval Aviator, was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and six Gold Stars for his service in the Ryukyus, a year ago.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Bolton of Chula Vista, Lt. Bolton is now on duty with Air Ferry Squadron Three, based in San Pedro.

Bolton is a veteran of battles from the Marshall and Gilbert Islands to Iwo Jima and Okinawa. He has been in the Navy since July, 1941.

Buck Bradford's beard is sure to win the contest if Gene Cairns and his yard stick are any judge. Looking on enviously (?) are Joe Osterman and Gene McCarter.

Service Clubs plan informal party at local park

Buccaneers, Piloteers and Spinsters will take over Santiago Park next Monday evening at 5:30, as these service clubs plan a joint, informal party.

A baseball game and weanie feast will occupy the early evening's activities, while later the group will dance at the high school "Hut."

Arrangements for the party are under the supervision of Augusta Young, president of the Piloteers; Eleanor Smeykal, Supreme Spinster; Vernon Ashby, president of the Buccaneers; and Jim Carillo, head of the food committee.

Assisting on the food committee will be Marilyn Perrin, Elaine Howerton, Marjory Moody, Betty Gisler, Betty Vernon, Jo Ann Martin, and Kenny Lanford.

ONLY 12 DAYS

Students are reminded that there are only 12 days of school before final examinations begin on June 5, college officials announced today.

El Don wins All-American award for first semester

Thirteen might be unlucky for some people, but not for the El Don staff which won its thirteenth All-American award in the annual contest conducted by the Associated Collegiate Press, according to information received this week from national headquarters.

Receipt of this award makes the second contest that El Don has received honors in this year. Last month announcement was made of first place honors won in the Columbia University journalism contest, in which the college paper was honored for the best headlines of all junior college newspapers entered.

The El Don has won 11 All-American awards consecutive, which is believed to be a record for junior college papers. The string of top honors was started in 1935 under the guidance of John H. McCoy, now director of the college, who was instructor of journalism at that time.

This year's award winner was edited by Beverly Harris with Don McDaniel and Marilyn Perrin as assistants. John Duke, journalism instructor, is adviser for the paper.

Director receives more mail than Santa Claus

When a former student wrote a letter to Director John H. McCoy asking for the dimension of a tennis court, Mr. McCoy sent not only full instructions for constructing a tennis court, but also included information on how to make horse shoe pits, play six man football, and construct a quarter mile track.

Every day Mr. McCoy receives letters asking everything from tennis court dimensions to the requirements for entering USC. He personally dictates an answer to each letter, and in most cases gives the inquirer the information he desires.

Within three years, Mr. McCoy estimates that he has received and answered from 3000 to 4000 letters. Before the Don Letter-of-the-Month was discontinued he sent it along with the personal reply.

Many of the former students merely ask for grade transcripts, or information on the progress of the new jaysee. Along with many of these letters he receives photographs or war souvenirs. It was in this way that he started collecting flags of various countries.

Ticket sales for annual banquet begin Wednesday

Sale of tickets for the annual Santa Ana Junior college formal banquet will begin Wednesday noon in the main hall. Don McDaniel, executive board member, will be in charge of ticket sales, and since there are a limited number, they will be sold only to student body ticket holders at the reduced rate of 80 cents.

The banquet will be held June 7, at 6:30 p. m., at the Laguna Hotel, it was announced by Carolyn Morrison, social commissioner. Chairman of the program committee is Helen Asher, and Gerry Spahr is in charge of decorations.

Directing over all plans for the banquet is Agness Todd Miller, dean of women.

The decoration motif and the program will be kept a secret until the banquet, declared Miss Morrison.

"It promises to be a very enjoyable evening," she stated.

Ticket sales manager, Don McDaniel, stressed the fact that students who especially want to attend should obtain their tickets as early as possible.

Instructor's wife travels to Europe

Mrs. Thomas Glenn, wife of the former head of the Santa Ana junior college English department, plans to travel to Europe this summer to accompany her husband back in the fall when he will resume his college instructions.

At present Mrs. Glenn is teaching French at Scripps college, but she is making preparations for a tour which will include a reunion with her family and friends in Alsac Lorraine, where she has not been since the outbreak of the World War II.

Mrs. Glenn will be accompanied by her daughter Michile, and they expect to go to New York by car and then fly to the continent.

El Don editor to speak at journalism banquet

Don McDaniel, editor of El Don, will be one of the speakers at the Willard Junior high school journalism banquet to be held May 31 at the Willard cafeteria.

John H. Duke, instructor of journalism, spoke before the Orange County School Press Association Tuesday concerning the annual El Don award. This award is presented annually to the best high school newspaper.

Elmer big attraction for many alumni

One of the must sees of the alumni when they visit the campus is the genial trainer of the football team and custodian for the city school system of Santa Ana, Elmer Bergeson.

One of Elmer's pastimes is putting tape on football players and then having the pleasure of yanking it off with a quick jerk. Eating ice cream is another of his delights especially in front of the drooling team while they are sweating it out on the gridiron, and trying to stir up fights around the locker room is also a deed he likes to do because it brings back the days when he was a pugilist.

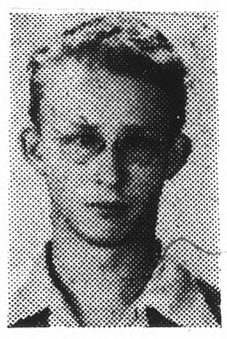

Elmer started working for the local school system in August, 1938. Since that time Elmer has seen many a student come and go from this campus and he has patched up a lot of football players so that they could continue playing for the Dons.

During the first world war Elmer served four years in the Navy in the Atlantic fleet.

Elmer can always be spotted on the football filed during the games by his jacket with which he never parts except for the warmer weather of summer.

Sammy Grabs on

All through the war Santa Ana jaysee, like all other jaysees, was forced to put the lid on spring sports by a man named Sam, who had a habit of making off with all the masculine material on a campus at the ends of the first semesters.

Sammy Lets Go

But at long last, with the war over, Sammy is unshackling this pent-up athletic power and the Dons really cut loose with spring sports in full stride this season.

50-50

Coach Bill Cook's horsehiders didn't fare quite as well as the rest of the teams this year, but they did manage to come out of it with a 50-50 break. Seems as though every time they got out in the field they couldn't find the ball. But they did win their share of contests and should be commended for their swell efforts in the first season in a good many years.

Eight vets

Save for left fielder Gene Scarbrough, Bill fielded an all-veteran squad, most of them playing together for the first time. Next year, with the majority of the nine back for another try, they should wax a few more league teams.

Netmen surprise

But the biggest surprise of the year has come from the coachless Don netmen. Coming back for their first year in many seasons, the racketeers, guided by student Frank Childs, have not only shown themselves to be an outstanding team, but have gone on to win the Eastern division championship, both singles and doubles, the first time any Don team has ever done such a feat.

Cook to review fall squad as practice ends

Taking the wraps off of a potential 1946 junior college squad, Bill Cook will give fans a preview of next fall's team when he sends a score of his spring trainees against an alumni squad Tuesday afternoon in the Municipal Bowl as a highlight of the Homecoming Day activities.

Starting lineups are still tentative and Coach Cook refused to name positions or players. Cook stated he expected to alternate men freely in an effort to determine player ability.

The game will also be a near climax to the spring training program, first in the history of the Eastern Conference, which will end on June 1. The present practice which promices to be a big help to ex-servicemen who have been away from the football wars for several years has been going on for three nights a week as Coaches Cook and Ward work over material for next year.

Trackmen leave today for Fresno West Coast Relays

A squad of Santa Ana Junior College trackmen leaves at noon today for the annual West Coast Relays at Fresno where they'll compete against athletes from 11 other jaysees, including Fullerton.

Coach John Ward listed Jim Kanno, LaVerne Duker, Matt Nison, Hilmar Bruggeman, Gene McCarter, David Head and Ken Mitchell and said two or three others might be added to the traveling team.

At least five Dons will go to the National Junior College Championships in Phoenix, Ariz. May 25, thanks to a $100 contribution by the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Former SAJC Greats

Two of the many jaysee athletes killed in action were Joe Herbert and Carl Lehnhardt. Both were outstanding in college sports.

Don athletes killed in war remembered during homecoming

By JOE OSTERMAN

Over the cleat scarred sod of the Bowl hover the spirits of the past, still pondering over the great ball games and teams that have been seen in action there. For many crack athletes have trod that sod, and, with homecoming day, the games of the past will be talked of, time and time again—the great teams of the late '30's and pre-war '40's and the men who made them up. And, during the hashing and rehashing of old times, perhaps the names of some of the finest ever to wear the Red and Black will be mentioned and people will wonder what ever happened to them.

It is true, sadly so, that despite homecoming celebrations, all the loyal Dons will not return. For some the sacrifice was the supreme one. And so it was with some of the top flight athletes who wore jaysee colors.

First Don killed

Del Holan was the first man from the local college to die for his country; basketball was his top sport here.

The mighty football squad of 1938, undisputed Southern California champs lost four men to the Grim Reaper; Joe Herbert, quarterback and slick passer; Ed Bristow, smashing blocking half, killed in Europe; "Chuck" Mueller, and finest of many blockers; and Carl Lehnhardt, scrappy little ball carrier.

The title holding squad of 1942 also paid in deaths during the war, losing five men.

In explanation

In an effort to re-acquaint former students with the campus and jaysee life as they remember it, this homecoming edition of El Don contains as much information as possible that will be of interest to alumni. The stories in this issue which concern former students were written not only to help them recall their jaysee experiences, but to acquaint present day students with the accomplishments of their predecessors.

Since it is impossible to publish a six page edition, as had been planned, all current news, along with homecoming features, had to be crowded into this regular four page issue. The decisions as to which stories to publish and which to leave out were difficult to make. Stories were judged on their news value for both students and alumni.

It is sincerely hoped that the balance of current news stories and features concerning homecoming and alumni activities is equal and will meet with the approval of everyone.—the editor.

Ex-Dons boost homecoming through letters

Wide-spread enthusiasm on the part of service men over the homecoming is shown in the comments made by these men in their letters to John H. McCoy, jaysee director. Former Dons stationed all over the world are eagerly waiting for this celebration.

From a Naval supply depot on Okinawa, last January, came a letter from Wally Dietrich in which he stated, "I've read a lot from time to time about the Reunion you've been planning, and it sounds great to me."

Wants reserved seat

Lt. Bob Davy wrote from Manila in February, "the reunion idea is tops. I doubt if I can make it, however, we probably won't get out of here until June."

From Richmond, California, Bill Kamrath writes, "We are hoping that the schedule here will permit our being there for the big homecoming. We shall certainly make every effort to be there, at any rate."

Expects to attend

In January, Scott Hoeptner voiced his enthusiasm when he wrote, " . . . also I plan on being at the big reunion that you have planned . . . I expect to be there if nothing comes between."

A member of the Japanese occupation forces, Cpl. Dick Wright expressed his disappointment at not being able to attend when he wrote, "I would like to attend the homecoming, but I'm going to be busy seeing that the peace is permanent."

Mr. McCoy estimates that approximately 1500 service men have inquired about the homecoming, and a large percentage of these are expected to attend.

Know Your Instructor

"They tried to make a musician out of me as a child but it didn't take; I drew pictures all over my music."

So speaks Miss Frances W. Egge, Santa Ana jaysee's art instructor, who states that she is an "art jack of all trades." I teach everything ranging from interior decoration to annual production."

Miss Egge is a native of Santa Ana, having lived and gone to school here since the fourth grade. She is a graduate of Santa Ana high school and attended jaysee here during her college freshman year. She graduated from Pomona college, however, from which she went to Philadelphia, to attend the Academy of Fine Arts there for a year.

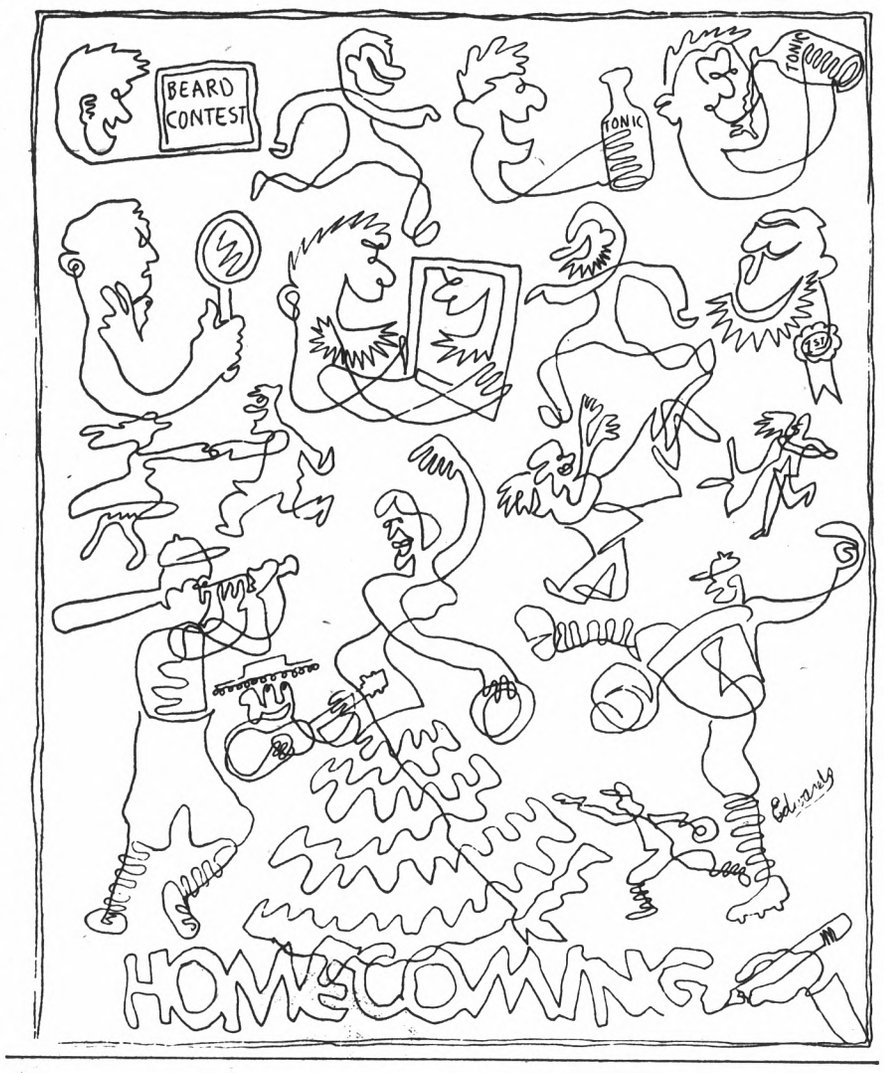

With twenty Pomona college graduates, Miss Egge visited Europe the following summer, taking the "usual tour," as she put it. They visited Paris, Holland, Switzerland, Rome, Naples, and other European cities. She says the highlight of her journey to Paris was the meeting of Mr. Phillips on the Pantheon steps there. Neither of the two knew the other was in Europe.

Of the Del Ano, Miss Egge was hopeful. She states: "The annual is now beginning to take shape and look like a book. The greatest difficulties we have had, strange to say, were in getting the cameras to work."

ABOUT BEARDS

Lawn mowers and scyths may be seen in abundance around the campus after the beards are judged. Most men, upon the insistence of the women in their lives, have promised to shave before the big homecoming dance.

Former ASB presidents plan to attend homecoming

Recall events during terms

By MARILYN PERRIN

Don prexys from past years will return to their alma mater on May 28 when present students and alumni will mingle during the Santa Ana Junior college homecoming festivities.

Robert Gerwing, leader in 1921, will be present, but he remembers the days when the school had an enrollment of about forty students; the women outnumbering the men three to one. The college shared the high school facilities. Gerwing acted as the first editor of the "Algol," forerunner of Del Ano, and now he has a radio and appliance store in Santa Ana.

McCoy was 1926 prexy

John H. McCoy, director of the junior college, was the 1926 president. During his term in office the El Don was shaping into form, as he became one of the first editors. Also the Orpheo troupe, a group of students who toured high schools presenting entertainment, was organized that year.

George Tobias, ASB president remembers the first fiesta held during his presidency; it began as an all-day affair, including the May festival, a parade, and an operetta or play. The Don and Dona were crowned after popular voting. In 1929 the college colors were changed from purple and white to red and black. Orphan Kiddies was in full swing, with members representing about twenty states. Tobias is now an attorney and resides in Santa Ana.

Dunlap elected in '31

John "Sky" Dunlap was elected to lead the student body in 1931, as school spirit reached a high mark, and included such endeavours as a registration and greeting program, and special contributions to the campus by service clubs. The vice-president was appointed the official student publicity man and the student constitution and finances were completely revised. Dunlap was editor of El Don, among other junior college offices, and is now the editor of the "Santa Ana Sunday Globe."

Bill Twist, 1939 president, was the number one Don during the campaign to pass the first bond issue for a new campus. The students banded together and staged a parade in support of the issue, but the bond issue was defeated by a narrow margin. Twist is now employed at the Towner Manufacturing Company.

Annual Don and Dona contest now in its eighteenth year

This year marks the eighteenth annual jaysee series of Don and Dona contests. Eighteen years ago, in 1928, Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, dean of jaysee women for 24 years, suggested the idea of the yearly Spanish festival.

At that time Father O'Sullivan of the San Juan Capistrano mission crowned Flora Groenow and Pete Lehr, the first reigning Don and Dona.

From the first of these festivals through the class year of 1943, this practice of choosing both a Don and Dona remained in popular usage. Then, in the war year of 1944, a different type of election was held. At that time, Ethelwynne Davis was chosen May Queen. In this election, the sale of War Bonds was the determining factor; and Miss Davis, with her helpers, sold $30,695 in bonds. Last year much the same pattern was followed, although both a Don and Dona participated.

The succession of Dons and Donas, with the exception of '44, has been uninterrupted. Baxter Geeting and Margaret Cianfoni wore the traditional sombrero and mantilla in 1929; followed by Abbott Mason and Mary McHenry in 1930; George Griffith and Maybelle Bell, 1931; Charles Stehly and Iona de Remer, 1932; Gene Hall and Helen Bower, 1933; Glenn Bishop and Harriet Abrams, 1934; and John Henderson and Agnes DeBusk, 1935.

John Ramirez and Lois Murray won the contest in 1936; Allan Titensor and Margaret Crowell, 1937; Bob Rief and Marjorie Kenyon, 1938; Robert Horseman and Maxine Wells, 1939; Ralph Dawson and Rhoda Timmons, 1940; Art Berry and Mary Ann Maag, 1941; Paul Cleary and Jean May, 1942; Keith Davis and Barbara Matson, 1943; Ethelwynne Davis, 1944; and Bill Neth and Dorothy Hamilton 1945.

The first annual jaysee fiesta was held in 1928 when Father O'Sullivan of the San Juan Capistrano Mission crowned Flora Groenow and Pete Lehr Don and Dona.

Alumni told of plans through Don letter

In order to spread the news of the junior college homecoming to alumni, John. McCoy issued a special Don Letter-of-the-Month, directed to former students at home and abroad.

Announcement was made that an alumni committee composed of Milford Dahl, Santa Ana attorney; Armand Hanson, advertising executive; and Don Hillman, travel expert, is assisting the students in preparation for the event.

The regular Don Letter-of-the-Month was suspended recently when Mr. McCoy decided that men were being released from the services so fast and addresses were being changed so frequently that it was impossible to continue. The letter was sent to approximately 1500 service men and women all over the world. It contained news of campus events as well as information about former students and where they were.

CONGRATULATIONS!
